

Dingly Dangly Scarecrow

Dingly dangly scarecrow was made from our old clothes.

A  from dad .A  from Gran

A pair of  from our friend Fran.
Some  buttons from mum's wooden sewing box,

which we Stitched onto an old hessian  (sack),

We gathered the bottom and tied it up tight  .
Pulling the threads with all of our might.

 (Hay) for his socks, and Straw for his hair,

that all came from the local town  (fair)

His   (boots) were once Grandad's who groaned 'They still fit.....!'

His  (gloves) were odd sizes , one large and one  (small) found buried in the winter clothes box, down in the hall.

So, we put him together on a long wooden pole
Out in the field dad dug a hole.

and now in a furrow Dingly Dangly stands proud

All who helped make him stood in a crowd.

As the 's eat elsewhere once they've had a scare.
For Dingly Dangly dances to protect his hectare.
